

Privacy Notice

We at Lawrence Barham Memorial Trust (LBMT) take data protection very seriously and LBMT trustees want to give assurance to our supporters that we respect their rights to privacy and the appropriate use of their data.

At LBMT we have one designated person who is responsible for collecting personal data. In fact we only collect data, which in practice is restricted to name and contact addresses, for the purposes of communicating with our supporters by e-mail or post with our newsletters or other information about our activities. We never give this data to other organisations.

Our supporters can contact us on info@lbmt.org.uk if they wish their contact details to be removed from our data collection (although this would then make it difficult for us to continue to communicate with them) or if they have any questions regarding the protection or use of their data.